

ENVIRONMENTAL FORENSICS: Underground Detective Work

ERMI has been providing forensic services to attorneys, State governments, oil companies, insurance companies, and other environmental firms since 1999.

We assist these stakeholders with a comprehensive suite of professional services, including Expert Testimony and Litigation Support. We've even developed specific methodologies for resolving disputes associated with the accidental release of pollutants into soil and water.

OUR ANALYTICAL/RESEARCH INVESTIGATIONS ASSESS:

- What are the pollutants?
- What is the source?
- Is it one or multiple discharges?
- When did it occur?
- Who is responsible?

In 2003, ERMI demonstrated to the FDEP the need for an Environmental Forensic Contractor, and was awarded the first FDEP Forensic Term Contract in 2006.

OUR SUCCESS SPRINGS FROM A THOROUGH UNDERSTANDING OF:

- the perspectives of various parties in disputes;
- applicable statutes and codes;
- chemical analyses and forensic tools;
- research methods to identify critical evidence buried in archives;
- risk assessment, toxicology, sensitive receptors, and exposure pathways.

If you're facing a situation where soil or water contamination is suspected, give us a call. We'll get to the bottom of it.
